

Guide: Downtown Art Walk, November 10, 2011

by Ed Fuentes \(http://www.kcet.org/user/profile/efuentes\)

on November 9, 2011 12:20 PM

Farewell to L.A: It is the last month of Downtown residency for Bert Green, the founder of Art Walk who with his gallery BGFA, \(http://www.bgfa.us/\) brought a different kind of dealer to Downtown's 5th and Main.

"It's time to move on," says Green from San Francisco by phone, where he was making a round of saying goodbyes to Northern California contacts. He is migrating to Chicago and will open a new gallery, and takes with him a reputation of increasing Downtown's presence on the art scene.

There are no plans to start-up another art walk like experience. Then he says after pausing. "Well, we will see in a year." Bert Green Fine Art final show final show \(http://www.bgfa.us/\) is by appointment only and runs until November 19. December is for packing.